SUGGESTION: In conjunction with regular analytical duties, analysts in the Industrial Register Division should prepare coordinates of each city in the Industrial Listing. This procedure would provide an up to date gazetteer at the time the Listing is used to fill requests for data.

EVALUATION: The Incentive Awards Committee found that:

1. The additional duty given to each analyst represents a very minor expenditure of time, which is recovered later many times over, once the information is recorded for future reference.
2. Monetary savings during the first year of adoption are estimated to be $1942.50.
